SERVICE	2018 Fall–2021 Fall: MIT Talbot Workshop - Organizer The yearly MIT Talbot Workshop invites two expert faculty members in algebraic topology and nearby fields to work with nearly thirty-five graduate students and postdocs on a topic of contemporary interest. Participants give talks and discuss the material, all the while living, working, and eating together in a remote and picturesque setting. Responsibilities include applying for grants, soliciting faculty mentorship, advertising to and selecting participants, event coordination, and editing notes produced at the workshop.

2019 Winter-2020 Spring: NUMath Directed Reading Program - Founder and Organizer

This program pairs undergraduate students with graduate student mentors to read mathematics outside of the traditional classroom setting. Responsibilities include reading undergraduate applications, recruiting graduate student mentors, and tailoring syllabi for individual projects.

2017 Fall–2019 Spring: Northwestern Math Graduate Student Seminar - Organizer

The weekly graduate student seminar invites graduate students to speak on ongoing research and topics of interest. Responsibilities include recruiting speakers and scheduling talks.
